

Baldwin Supply Company

“To be recognized by you as your preferred business partner” is the mission of Baldwin Supply Company.

Founded in Minneapolis, MN in 1920, Baldwin is one of the largest independent, privately-owned wholesale distributors of mechanical and electrical power transmission products, electrical automation controls and conveyor belt fabrication in the Upper Midwest. Baldwin has been recognized in the industry as one of the leading distributors in the country.

Over the last decade and a half, Baldwin has grown from a single location in Minneapolis to having over 100 employees in seven regional locations. The corporate office and a second branch are located in Minneapolis, MN.

Other branches are located in Des Moines, IA; Hibbing, MN; Owatonna, MN; Fargo, ND and Sioux Falls, SD.

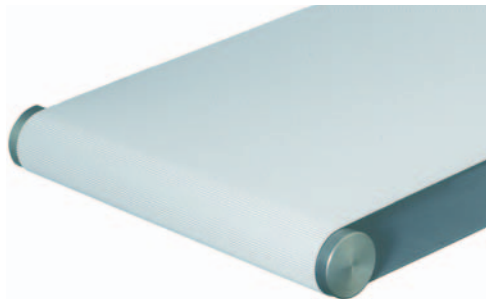

One of the major keys to Baldwin’s success is their team, a staff of dedicated, experienced and personable industry experts who will go the extra mile for their customers. The team is complemented by local availability of inventory to support customers’ needs.

Baldwin services a wide variety of industries including food processing, ethanol, mining and aggregate, packaging, power generation, wood products, farming and agriculture, material handling, transportation, waste and disposal, and forest products including pulp and paper.

Baldwin’s inventory consists of the top brands in the industry in several product groups.

These groups include conveyor belting, chain, sprockets, idlers, pulleys, electric motors, gear reducers, electrical controls and bearings. Baldwin also offers onsite installation and repair of conveyor belting, pulley lagging and refacing, variable frequency drive and PLC startup and programming assistance, as well as millwright work. All of their technicians are factory trained and certified by the manufacturers they represent. Baldwin is also a proud member/owner of IDC-USA, the largest power transmission products cooperative in the U.S.

As Baldwin looks toward the future, they continue to focus on growth, new technologies and providing the best in local support for their customers.
